Wednesday 7 August

Museum of Literature

14.30 departure from the faculty

or 15.00 in front of the museum

(address: Pelléova 44/22, Praha 6)

The Museum of Literature is a new cultural institution on the map of Prague. You can find it in the beautiful district of Bubeneč, housed in a renovated villa where the Monument of National Literature opened a new exhibition on Czech literature in 2022. The exhibition presents "the rich and diverse collection of the Museum of Literature, complemented by original audiovisual works from the perspective of contemporary, and therefore provisional, knowledge.

The concept of the exhibition does not follow any specific narrative line – it points to the openness and variability of connections, interactions, and transfers that occur within literature."

The current exhibition at the museum is called "Franz Kafka's Plays," and our guide will be the curator of the permanent exhibition, dr. J. Hauser, who will also introduce you to the museum's research activities and the Literary Archive.
